SECOND GAME LOST.

Toledo Wins by 5 to 4-Clingman's Fatal Moment of Hesitation.

Not quite all of this city's 125,000 inhabitants were able to see the ball game yesterday. The street-railway people seemed to be "shy" a few cars-this with premeditated generosity to Mr. Frenzeland had it landed the entire population at the park gates there were not enough forest oaks and convenient house-tops adjacent to admit of the multitude viewing the interesting contest-without putting up for the same. However, a committee will be appointed to bring this matter before President Golt and his confreres. No doubt they can be prevailed on to plant a few telephone poles, with ladder attachments back of left field so as to remove all future complaint on this score.

For the benefit of those who did not behold the second game of the season, which resulted in a 5 to 4 defeat, let it be said that no blame attaches to Mr. Umpire Mc-Quade. He did nobly-yes, with the doubtful exception of snake-armed Sullivan, he was equal to any other two men on the home team. Let McQuade stay right where he is the remainder of the season and he can have the next nomination for Mayor on the "cranks" ticket.
On the other hand, should it come to a ote, short-stop Clingman stands in danger being given six months on the municipal ome-pile. Many unhesitatingly ascribe one loss of the first game with Toledo to a.r. Clingman's ragged playing, albeit an impartial examination of the score will show that it was due more to the single-handed labor of a lake-side gentleman biblically yelept Ely. Clingman was not a tower of strength in the field, but when he shouldered the wagon-tongue bat he set an example to those coming after. Every time Eli swung his cudgel there was a report as of a strong man smashing a lamppost with a joint of stove-pipe. Three of Toledo's five runs came in on his drives, and he is credited with two of the four suf-Verily, Ely was the demon that did most

And observe how he throttled misguided base-hits. Had he broken a leg or been taken with an opportune sinking spell and retired instead of pitcher Clarke in the eighth, Manager Harrington's team would not be found at the bottom of the percentage column this morning. But he didn't, and that shows with whom the gods were allied on yesterday.

That Indianapolis has lost her first two games is in no wise an indication of what she may do to-day or during the rest of the season. There was an observer in the pa-vilion yesterday who, for five years, has witnessed the play of the strong clubs in the major leagues, and he is authority for the statement that the Hoosier team is far from being out-classed. Her weakness, he said, was not in individual point so much as in a lack of harmonious team work. The Toledo team, as a whole, gave the better exhibition yesterday, but she has no Anson, no Pfeffer, no Comiskey, Latham. Ewing, Kelly or Beckley to give Indianapolis a tremor. Watch to-day and see for yourself. READY TO WAGER WEALTH.

In the before-game practice yesterday the home players won the admiration of both bleacheries and pavilion. The crowd was ready to back them with gold. Here and there men stood, hands in pockets. rattling shining silver, anxious only for a cause to rain dollars on the field as in days of yore when Jere Denny, Glasscock or lit-tle Seery drove smashing hits to the dis-tant confines of the park. The first inning umpire Corcoran that it was necessary for opened in breathless anticipation. Ajax Letcher, followed by McQuaid and Meara a tr.o that you may be sure will win praise with the bat before the season is much older-belted the ball without serious injury to the stitches, and retired in order.

In the second inning Father O'Brien, another heavy-weight and no spring chicken. Abbey, m. 0 0 2 0 c Kreig.c... was given his base, and at once advanced Jantzen, m 0 1 0 0 c Henry, m. to second on a passed ball. Harrington dispatched coachers Letcher and Meara to their positions, while Carpenter, who knew his business, bunted the ball to the pitcher and wisely sacrificed himself at first, helping O'Brien to third. Hengle straightway shot a line hit over second base, and O'Brien crossed the home-plate with the first run. That was neat as could be asked. Hengle lost his life in a daring assault on the second base, and Clingman got hold of a ghost bat and struck out, but none felt tired up to that point. The score rewhen the visitors seemed to have what is laconically termed a "bunch." They had been the victims of brutal executions, the bloodiest of which was Hengle's uninning that more than counterbalanced Carpenter's faux pas when he became mo-mentarily tangled up over Nichol's infield

Gettinger, the vicious-looking Toledo left gardener, opened the fourth with a stinging rap to center that greatly tickled the I-told-you-sos humped up like hand-organ monkeys on the desolate bleachers. Nichol followed with a tricky bunt hit, and both would have been doubled up and their remains tenderly borne to the bench save for the treacherous water-soaked soil that made Sullivan slip and Indicrously deposit his bulk on the ball. Ely, the terrible, came next and whacked an inshoot ferociously, sending the ball to deep center for two bases, easily scoring Gettinger, and, of course, advancing Nichol to third. Nicholson then attempted a sacrifice himself, but Clingman rushed up on the ball, tossed it to Quinn, who with Carpenter ran down Nichol on the line. This left Ely on third, Nicholson reaching second on the play. Newell's sacrifice was better timed, and Ely got there—home. Nicholson moved up to third and also scored on Quinn's only passed ball of the game a moment later.

PULLED THEMSELVES TOGETHER. Three runs were chalked on the bulletinboard, giving the visitors a lead of two. The next inning the home team lessened the gap by one when Clingman hit for two bases and scored the only earned run of the game on Quinn's clean-cut hit into right field. The game then became unproductive of results until the eighth inning, although a much-needed landing of the ball to most any part of the outfield by Sullivan in the seventh, when Hengle, Clingman and Quinn were waiting on the bases, would have placed the victory beyond the clutches of the visitors.

Letcher began the eighth with a mystifying ground ball to Campion. The tall first baseman dove for it like a miser after a bright, new, silver quarter on the first of April. With all its teeth grinning, the ball darted past his sprawling digits, took a bite at his left ankle, chased up his back, smote him behind the right ear and with a stinging pin-g-g flew off at a right angle toward the howling mob on the right of the grounds. Needless to say Letcher was safe, but only for a brief spell. Mc-Quaid's hit to Clarke was the death of Letcher at second. Nicholson threw wild to first on a try for a double and McQuaid went to second. Meara nobly sacrificed himself and McQuaid moved to third.

Two outs did not dismay the Hoosiers. Clarke had lost a finger-nail in rashly stopping Meara's hit and had to give way to a new man, Pears—a soft mark. O'Brien, Carpenter and Hengle in quick succession rattled out galloping grounders to left, while at each resounding belt, the air shivered with cheers. One man had rambled home, making the score a tie, and the bases were full as Mr. Jones on a Saturday night. The new pitcher was paralyzed, and the crowd was in no mood to let him recover. He sent in four wild balls, giving Clingman first and forcing O'Brien home. Quinn accidentally hit to the deathless Elv, and perished at first, leaving the bases still tight, but the score was 4 to 3 in favor of the good—players.

Victory seemed assured until both Hengle and Clingman, with the irony of fate, went right back to the field and tried to play ball with their eyes shut, letting Armour and Gettinger get on the bases. Nichol made a long drive to center, which Meara fielded without giving the ivy time to sprout beneath his feet, and made a beautiful throw, cutting off ambitious Armour at the very threshold of the home-plate. But even this could not appease rapacions fate. The dreadful Ely was on deck, and Ely was a pet of the gods yesterday. With a sardonic grin, he seized his ciub and larruped a grounder down the left-field foul line. Before McQuaid could head off the the score and giving the exultant enemy a lead of one. The odds were too great.

Sullivan, Letcher and McQuaid came to bat in the ninth for Indianapolis, and retired with feeble struggles. To-day the tale may be another story. The score:

Cincinnati Wins Two Games from Chicago by Scores of 5 to 2 and 3 to 0. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

CINCINNATI, April 19 .- The Cincinnatis took Anson's colts into camp this afternoon for two games. The double bill drew out John L. Sullivan and 5,023 other spectators. The games were sharply contested and were replete with brilliant plays. The first game was lively up to the seventh inning, when one more run was added to the Cincinnati score. Then in the eighth Holliday's splendid home-run drive to the club-house in left field gave the Reds a comfortable lead and ended the run-getting for the rest of the game.

Luby was responsible for the two runs made by Cincinnati in the first inning of the second game, a base on balls and his wild throw helping in the runs. Mullane in the box was invincible, and his support was errorless. The only hit made by Chicago was a scratch infield hit, and during the entire game only two Chicagonus reached tirst, and neither of them went further. Score of first game:

Regular Democratic Ticket Elected by About Ten Thousand Plurality.

Shakespeare Defeated by Fitzpatrick for Mayor of New Orleans-Marked Republican Gains in Illinois Towns.

ANTI-LOTTERVITES WIN.

Foster Elected Governor of Louisiana by 10,000 Plurality-No Disturbances. NEW ORLEANS, La., April 19.-Advices received at midnight indicate that Foster has carried the State by about 10,000 pluratity. The Republicans have carried about six parishes, claiming Concordia among them, but McEnery, the rival Democratic candidate, will be second in point of votes. The McEnery majority in the city has been reduced, but John Fitzpatrick, the McEnery nomines for Mayor, is elected by from 4,000 to 5,000 majority. The election was quiet, considering, and the stratching in the city was unprecedented. All dispatches received to-night state that a large vote was polled, and that the election was peaceable and quiet. The count will not be completed until to-mor-

Nothing definite is obtainable at midnight as to the complexion of the Legislature, which it was at one time feared might become returning-board in this elec-tion. Figures are slow in com-ing in, and only rough estimates are given. The Foster committee claims the State, but the McEnery people are waiting for the figures. Late returns from the State at large show that the Foster Farmers' Alliance combine State ticket is elected by 40,000 plurality or more. New Orleans has gone for McEnery by about 10,000 majority. Fitzpatrick is elected Mayor by from 5,000 to 10,000. The Leonard faction of the Republicans beat the Breaux faction in the city apparently two to one. In the State McEnery will hardly poll more votes than he did in the Democratic white primaries on March 27. It now looks as if lature.

The election to-day in Louisiana was one of the most important ever held here. The people to-day voted for Governor and other State officers; for a full Legislature, Senate and House, for four years, and for district, parish and local officers, and those of New Orleans voted, in addition, for all their municipal officers, from Mayor and councilmen down. Three amendments to the Constitution were also submitted to the popular vote: (1) Authorizing the city of New Orleans to fund its bonds at a lower rate of interest; (2) an amendment authorizing the police juries to levy an additional tax for school purposes if authorized by the votes of the people of the parish, and (3) the famous revenue amendment extending the charter of the Louisiana Lottery Company.

The amendments to the Constitution were lost sight of in the existing fight over the State officers; but one of them (No. 1) is of great importance to New Orleans, and will save the city some $200,000 a year in in-terest. This amendment authorizes the funding of the city debt, and will allow the issue of new bends at 4 per cent., to take up those now falling due at 5, 6 and 7 per cent., and thus greatly reduce the interest charges. The second amendment did not interest New Orleans, and was for the benefit of the country parishes, authorizing them to levy higher taxes for school purposes if the people solvoted. The third, or revenue. amendment is dead, the proposition con-tained in it having been withdrawn and all the tickets printed against it, so that it need not be considered. There were five complete and distinct

State tickets in the field: First-The regular Democratic ticket, with Judge S. D. McEnery for Governor, and Robert C. Wickliffe for Lieutenant-governor. A majority of the delegates elected to the State convention favored McEnery and the ticket headed by him at the election, received a majority of the votes cast. Second-The anti-lottery faction, headed by Murphy J. Foster, ex-State Senator from St. Mary's parish, with Charles Parlange, ex-United States district attorney, for Lieutenant-governor, and Thomas Scott Adams, of the Farmers' Alliance, for Secretary of State. This ticket, by the recent decision of Col. John S. Young, of the second Louisiana returning board, was declared the regularly nominated Democratic

Third—The regular Republican ticket, headed by A. H. Leonard, of Shreveport, who was formerly United States district attorney, and H. Dudley Coleman, ex-Congressman from the Second Louisiana district. Both these gentlemen are ex-confederates and quite popular men. Ex-Governor Kellogg has made a vigorous cauyass in favor of the Leonard ticket. Fourth-The Republican ticket, headed by John E. Breaux, of Pointe Joupee par-ish, for Governor, and James C. Weaks, of Onachita, for Lieutenant-governor. This ticket is supported by ex-Governor (now collector of this port) Warmeth, and nearly all the federal officials in the State. Fifth-The People's party ticket: For Governor, R. L. Tannehill, of Winn parish; for Lieutenant-governor, I. J. Mills, of Calcasieu. The opinion was expressed that won; Dixie (8 to 5) second; Monteviso (3 to | this party would poll about ten thousand votes in the State. The regular Democratic nominee for

Mayor of New Orleans was the Hon. John Fitzpatrick, who favored the election of the McEpery State ticket. His opponent was the Hon. Joseph A. Shakspeare, the present incumbent, who favored the success of the Foster ticket. But few of the present incumbents were re-nominated either for municipal or parochial offices or for members of the Legislature.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS. Danville Comes Back in the Fold Strongly Republican.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. DANVILLE, Ill., April 19 .- The Republicans carried the city election here to-day. While there were only two officers besides the aldermen to elect, the result indicates that Danville is strongly Republican. The outcome is especially satisfactory, as this city two years ago gave a hostile majority against Congressman Cannon, and the election to-day turned on whether the city's administration, which is Democratic and bitterly hostile to Mr. Cannon, should be sustained or rebuked. The successful candidates are: Police magistrate, W. R. Timmons; marshal, Asa J. Fisher; aldermen— First ward, Joseph Werner (Democrat); Second, Peter Singer (Democrat); Third. John Hogan (Democrat), John Scroeder (Democrat); Fourth, John Timm (Republican); Sixth, H. E. Patterson (Republican), J. U. Converse (Republican.)

"Don't Keep Them."

"I do not keep them," said the grocer when asked for Dr. Price's Delicious Flavoring Extracts, "but I can sell you another kind, at a less price, that will be equally as good." Being an old customer, and having confidence in the grocer, the lady consented. The result when she used the Extract of Lemon was that the Ice Cream had the taste of turpentine, and when the cake was flavored with the Vanilla it had the strong, rank taste of the poisonous snuff bean. The extracts were not genuine, were made cheap so as to afford a better profit. You will never fail to find Dr. Price's Flavors on the shelves of every grocer who seeks to give satisfaction to his customers by recommending the purest and best articles.
